NEWS OF ROCKVILLE AND THE COUNTY

Residence, Barn and Content
on Farm of Harry W. Wil-

Liama Burned.

Special Correspondence of The Star.

ROCKYVILLE, Md., June 24, 1911.

The residence, barn and several other buildings on the farm of Harry W. Williams, near Kadakda, five miles from Rockyville, were destroyed by fire at an early hour yesterday morning. About one-half of the furniture, a large quantity of hay, straw and grain, and a number of agricultural implements were burned, and a valuable horse and several calves perished in the flames. The loss is placed at about $8,000, nearly all of which is covered by insurance.

What caused the fire is a mystery.

started in the barn, and when discovered had gained such headway that to attempt to check the flames was deemed futile, and attention was directed toward saving the house.

Mr. Mary Frances Henry, aged thirty-two years, and Joseph Samuel Hughes, aged thirty-five years, both of whom were in the house at the time, arrived in Rockville yesterday afternoon at 11 o'clock.

Rev. William D. Keene, pastor of the Southern Baptist church, the ceremony of making life out of the paragonage.

Fifty-Eight Would Teach.

The annual examinations for certification to teach in the public schools of the State will be held in various institutions of the state ended yesterday having lasted three days. The examinations were taken by fifty-eight young men and women—twenty for first-grade teachers' certificates, twenty-three for second-grade certificates, and fifteen for school principals' certificates. The Western Maryland College, Maryland Agricultural College, Washington College and St. Mary's Seminary. The examinations were held at the Normal School of the superintendent of public schools. The results will be announced next week.

The Rockville lodge of Masons will tomorrow morning attend service in the Baptist Church. They will meet at the lodgeroom, and after donning their regalia will proceed to the Baptist church, where the pastor, Rev. Oscar W. Henderson, will preach a special sermon on "Masonry."

Married in Baltimore

Miss Maude Elizabeth Heagy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Heagy of this city, and Ralph Horace Kimball, of Philadelphia, and Washington Kimball, of Boston, both her severest friends, and president of Washington, were married, were married today in St. John's Immanuel Methodist Church, Baltimore, in the presence of a small company of friends. Rev. John C. Copenhagen, formerly assistant pastor of the Rockville Southern Methodist church, officiated.

The bride, who was unattended, wore a tailored suit of white basket cloth, with a large white panama hat trimmed in white. She carried a bouquet of white flowers.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Kimball left for their honeymoon trip, which will include a visit to the Atlantic City and Atlantic City, N. J.

The ceremony was held at home at 607 Lamont street.

Several evenings ago the bride was given a linen shower at the home of Mrs. Edna Noyes in Washington, a large number of her Washington friends attending.

BRINGS CARGO OF LUMBER.

The three-masted schooner Persis A. Colwell, Capt. Colwell, with 438,000 feet of hard pine lumber from Tampa, Fla., arrived here yesterday, and is lying at the first street wharf of Johnson & Winters, Inc., where the lumber will be transferred to the Beuna Vista, and made a quick trip to the north.

up the coast, passing in the capes of the Chesapeake Bay Monday night. From Monday until Thursday afternoon, when the tug took her towline in the lower part of the Potomac, the vessel was slowly working her way up the bay and into the Potomac, but the winds were contrary. On Thursday afternoon, at the mouth of the Annapolis river, Capt. Colwell was ashore and telephoned to this city for the tug "Sag" to be sent to meet him. He was met by Mrs. Colwell. The schooner will be about two weeks in port unloading.

“The Cook Lady.”

One of the most entertaining remembrances we have read is the “Confessions of a Cook Lady,” written by Elizabeth MacDonald (the author uses a pseudonym for obvious reasons). She was in charge of the woman’s department of a magazine. Some of the experiences she had there were as strange as they were amusing for they were everything but in accordance with her training on a new recipe or an anomalous dish to select a life for a lonely swain in Idaho. In our
